THE GLOBAL ECONOMY IN TURBULENT TIMES
“Every country has its star institutional builders. Tan Sri Lin is a truly brilliant institutional builder and doer from his days as central banker, architect to the design and strengthening of Malaysia’s financial system and advisor to all prime ministers. His masterly analysis of domestic and global events show through in his clear writings in this book, passionately written with verve, practical to a fault, and wonderfully told—from the biggest picture to the smallest institutional detail. Only one who has done it before firsthand knows how the system works, what to do, and how to fix it. No Asian writer has his command and authority on emerging market economic development from the ground up. This is truly the work of a master, teacher, and mentor—to be read and enjoyed by students and policy makers alike.”

Andrew Sheng, Chief Adviser to the China Banking Regulatory Commission and former Chairman, Securities & Futures Commission, Hong Kong

“The style of the writing in this book will allow even a person who is not knowledgeable in finance or economics to comprehend the subject and enjoy reading the book. The topics covered are related to current issues and are loaded with lessons and advice. This book should be read by anyone wanting to make economic sense of the happenings in the financial markets and their effect on our lives.”

Tun Ahmad Sarji, Chairman, PNB (Permodalan Nasional Malaysia) and former Chief Secretary to the Government of Malaysia

“When it comes to economics, I am very much a layman. That’s why I have turned to my learned friend See-Yan’s fortnightly column, and they have enabled me to make sense of what is going on around me. Now that they are compiled into a book, I would recommend it to all laymen like me who want to understand the forces at play that make us go up or down economically.”

Tun Mohammed Hanif Omar, Deputy Chairman, Genting Group and former Inspector-General of Police, Malaysia

“Essays on global economic and financial events are usually full of jargon that would put off most people after reading a few paragraphs. See-Yan cleans up the jargon and makes the concepts more comprehensible. Whether you are a student, academic, corporate executive, public official, or just a curious global citizen, See-Yan can help you relate to issues of global importance, and understand ‘what are we to do’ in our respective roles.”

    Sidek Hassan, Chairman, PETRONAS (Petrolian Nasional Malaysia) and former Chief Secretary to the Government of Malaysia

“Professor Lin’s depth of knowledge and breadth of new strategic ideas are drawn from his extensive research and illustrative insights into management and leadership from a deep variety and culture of model practices. I would like to recommend to locals, world readers, and professionals, both in the public and private sectors, especially the banking sector, to read this book for its superior insights and superior execution.”

    Thong Yaw Hong, Co-Chairman, Public Bank Malaysia and Chairman, Prime Minister’s Economic Council Working Group

“Tan Sri Lin’s essay collection covers one of the most epochal periods for both the global economy and Malaysia’s ongoing development journey. This backdrop gives See-Yan a rich and dramatic canvas to apply his sharp mind and deep experience. Dr. Lin indeed lived and lit up for us such interesting times with much gusto and in doing so brought the world to Malaysia and some of Malaysia to the world. This book is an indispensable record and compendium of a pivotal period, from one of the granddaddies of economic analysis in our region.”

    Azman Mokhtar, Managing Director, Khazanah Nasional (Sovereign Wealth Fund)

“See-Yan is a brilliant economist with a special knack for translating the complex into simple language. His objective economic analysis and his insights have helped us to better assess opportunities and anticipate challenges. This compendium of his essays, written for the noneconomist, will prove useful for any business leader or professional who desires to be more aware of the economic forces shaping the world today, especially fast-paced Asia.”

    Tan Chin Nam, entrepreneur and property developer, and Honorary Life President, IGB Corporation Malaysia

“Professor Lin’s insightful commentary will appeal to professors and students of economics. This highly readable book will serve as a useful reference for anyone seeking to understand economics from a global perspective. Tan Sri Lin, an accomplished economist, takes a bold stand on the many economic issues that he vividly portrays in the book. His balanced narrative offers ample room for the reader to arrive at his own solution to the ills afflicting the global economy.”

    Noor Azlan Ghazali, Vice Chancellor & Professor of Economics, Universiti Kebangsaan Malaysia
“Having studied at Harvard University, and being part of the much decorated Bank Negara’s top management during a period in which Malaysia had to confront several tumultuous financial turmoils, Lin See-Yan’s knowledge and experience shines in this gem. The book is a synthesis of concepts and policies that blend with reality. While students and academics of monetary economics will benefit enormously from the breadth and depth of the analysis, it is a must-read for the nonspecialists as its presentation is simple, clear, and crisp.”

Rajah Rasiah, Rajawali Fellow, Ash Center, Harvard Kennedy School, Harvard University and Professor of Economics and Technology Management, University of Malaya

“This book by one of Malaysia’s most distinguished economists should be read by all in the Malaysian Economic Association and all academic staff for its deep analysis of how the country dealt with its macroeconomic policy at the most crucial moments.”

Sheriff Kassim, President, Malaysian Economic Association and former Secretary-General, Ministry of Finance, Malaysia
